Tales from Mount Athos: Our Church is Alive with Very Rev. Dr. Andrew Cuneo

Andrew Cuneo graduated from Stanford with a B.A. in English and then traveled to England to complete an M.Phil. in English Renaissance Literature at the University of Oxford. Before completing graduate studies, he assisted Walter Hooper with research on the unpublished letters of C. S. Lewis, a subject which then became the focus of his doctorate at Oxford. The University awarded him his D.Phil. in English in 2001, making him the first Oxford scholar ever to receive a doctoral degree on C. S. Lewis. Fr. Andrew taught English Literature at Hillsdale College and the University of St. Katherine, and is currently the founder and rector of St Katherine Orthodox Church (OCA). He and his wife, Elizabeth, and their four children reside in Encinitas, CA.
